THE ALLARD CASE

Is Enlivened by a Bloody Fight in the Court House Hall This Afternoon.

Tom Allard, Son of the Plaintiff, and John C. Willis, of Metropolis, the Belligerents.

An exciting fight took place this forenoon about 10 o'clock in the hall at the county court house between Tom Allard, son of Mrs. Josephine Spaulding, plaintiff in the suit against Oliver Allard to break the will of the late J. L. Allard, and John C. Willis, of Metropolis, who was Oliver Allard's body guard a few months ago, appointed by the Masse court accompanying him where ever he went.

Willis came up this morning from Metropolis this morning to testify in the case. Young Allard has been accompanying a suit in the court room during the trial and heard Willis' testimony. It is alleged that Willis made some statement reflecting on Mrs. Spaulding, Tom Allard's mother. Young Allard left the court room, and full of resentment, was waiting for Willis when he emerged into the hall.

"You'll have to prove what you said in there," Allard declared.

"I'm a friend to you, Tom," Willis is quoted as saying in reply.

"You're a liar, you're no such thing," retorted Allard, and Willis pushed him away.

Allard then struck him in the left eye, and the two fell to fighting, bursting through the door into the circuit clerk's office, where they were finally separated.

Willis, it is said, claims that Allard struck him when he was not looking, but he is not corroborated by eye witnesses in this statement. His face was badly disfigured in the fracas and he bled freely.

Allard went at once to the city hall and was released on bond to appear and answer to a breach of the peace charge tomorrow.

This afternoon the two came near fighting again in the court house hall.

Look out for the big sale at Noh's Ark next week.

CANDIDATES CALORE.

A Partial List of Those to Come Before the Democratic Caucus Next Week.

Many Men for a Few Offices to be Filled Early in December—Almost One Hundred of Them.

"The more the merrier," is an old adage, and if it counts for anything, the race for elective municipal officers under the present administration will be a merry one.

As stated yesterday in the Sun, the councilmen-elect are preparing to hold a caucus early next week to decide on a "slate." This caucus is looked forward to with a great deal of interest by the anxious office seekers, and will no doubt be a source of much gratification to the councilmen recently elected, who have experienced little of the enjoyment of life since the election.

The number of candidates is very large, but many of them will likely not receive a vote. So far as is known not but three republicans will ask for endorsement. These are Fire Chief Wright, Market Master Smith and City Weigher Pratt. A petition, it is understood, is being circulated by friends of Mr. Pratt asking for his re-election.

Some of the other candidates are as follows, a new councilman having furnished them, together with the information that there were some more, but he had forgotten them.

The sexton of Oak Grove is hereafter, in pursuance of an ordinance enacted by the present council, to be elected by the commission.

So far as is known, there are no announced candidates for wharfmaster. Messrs. S. A. Fowler and H. A. Potter are possible candidates.

As will be seen from the above, two members of the school board, Messrs. Rose and Well, are candidates for city offices.

BETTER THAN EVER.
Yale's Big Production at Morton's Monday Night.

One of the most important attractions offered here this season is Chas. H. Yale's "The Twelve Temptations," which is to claim attention at Morton's opera house next Monday night.

This is reputed to be a great spectacle, having cost a large sum of money to put it on the stage in its present state of novelty and sumptuousness. It is entirely new, colossal in every respect, and an absolute miracle of beautiful scenic environment, while the hosts of splendid and dazzling costumes afford a continuous feast of harmonious color, blending and uniqueness of design. The piece, besides being a fairy spectacle with stirring adventures at the North Pole, is literally crowded with fun of the most boisterous kind, and pantomimic tricks which will raise laughter loud and long.

John Johnson, colored, who works on the Boswell farm near the city, on the Broadway road, was found late yesterday afternoon in the road near the place badly hurt.

When found he was carried home and Dr. Brooks, of the city, was sent for. He drove out and dressed the victim's injuries, which, while very painful, are not considered dangerous.

The repairs are to be in the heating apparatus, the steam, water and sewer pipes, and the leaks in the roof will be repaired.

The cost of all the repairs and improvements will probably exceed $500, and will be the first made in several years.

Custodian Puryear also has another appointment to make, that of night watchman of the building. This position pays $540 a year, and is now held by Mr. Finis Rudolph. Mr. Frank Dunn will be appointed to succeed the latter.

Mr. Walter Mercer, the new fireman, will likely be sworn in next week. H. C. Davis, colored, will be sworn in Monday.

The salary of fireman or engineer is $720 per year, and that of janitor $600.

NO INSPECTORS NEEDED,
Yet They Are Still at Work on the Trains.

The article in today's Register in regard to the train health inspectors put on by Mayor Yelzer, does the board of health an injustice. President Troutman, of the board, informed Mayor Yelzer, who employed the men during the yellow fever scare, before the 1st inst. to take them off, but it appears they are still at work, and at a considerable expense to the city.

It is the general opinion that no inspectors were at any time necessary, much less now.

BROKE A LEG.

John Johnson, a Hackster, Badly Hurt.

Thrown Out of his Wagon and Run Over Yesterday.

John Johnson, colored, who works on the Boswell farm near the city, on the Broadway road, was found late yesterday afternoon in the road near the place badly hurt.

Johnson comes to market every day, and left in his wagon about noon yesterday for home. In some manner he fell out of the wagon on his way out and the wheels passed over him, breaking his left leg. He was also badly bruised up.

When found he was carried home and Dr. Brooks, of the city, was sent for. He drove out and dressed the victim's injuries, which, while very painful, are not considered dangerous.
